SIR,

I have the honour to state that a duplicate copy of the book enumerating the jewellery and other gold and silver articles belonging to the palace, forwarded to this office by the Secretary to the Chief Commissioner with his letter No.202, dated 28th December 1868, for safe custody with the Comptroller, has been lying in this office ever since. The safe custody Register in my office is encumbered with many such old papers and as action is being taken to eliminate all such obsolete documents, I request that you will be so good as to inform me if there is still any need for continuing its custody here and if not whether it can be returned to you for disposal.

I request the favour of an early reply.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

J. S. Chakravarti
